MARTINE BLOQUIAUX is a Medical Intuitive Healer, Feng Shui Advisor, writer and speaker in the eastern United States, Europe and Asia. After 18 years in law and international business, Martine Bloquiaux discovered she had unique healing gifts. Thus began a personal journey which led her to travel worldwide developing and perfecting her skills through extensive study under the tutelage of a number of masters, most notably Grandmaster Thomas Lin-Yun Rinpoche, founder of Black Sect Feng Shui. "I focus on the health of a space and the people who live within it to live happier, healthier lives." Bloquiaux is a regular contributor to Asian magazines, such as Shanghai Talk and Beijing Talk, as well as Yoga Living Magazine in the US. Bloquiaux is also the USA Chairperson for the Shangri-La Orphanage Project, dedicated to improving the welfare of orphans in Southwest China. Born and raised in Belgium, she currently lives in Philadelphia with her husband and two sons.
